RENT, SALARIES, BUILDING WORK ARE DISCUSSED

Colville Requests That City Pay Part Of Expense For East Main Residence

$400 ASSIGNED MATERIALS

Salary Of Relief Office Worker To Be Paid

Three WPA problems involving rent, salaries, and additional funds for the city building renovating project were ironed out by councilmen Wednesday evening.

Robert Colville, county treasurer, asked councilmen to share in the rent for his property on E. Main street used as headquarters for the relief agencies and the WPA sewing project. He informed members the government has not paid its share of the rent since last February when F.E.R.A. was stopped.

Under the original agreement, Mr. Colville explained, the government was to pay $20 and the county $20. The county has been paying its share and the heat, light and water bills. He told councilmen if they refused to share in the rent he would ask the agencies to move. Mr. Colville agreed to lose the rent between February and July pointing out he did not bring the matter before council sooner believing the government would make arrangements to settle.

To Draft Ordinance

After a lengthy discussion in which councilmen were informed a suspension of the sewing project would add more persons on the city relief rolls, they agreed to have the city solicitor draw up an ordinance to pay the rent for six months, beginning July 1. Last winter approximately 50 women, the majority of them city residents, were furnished employment on the sewing project. The employees have been reduced this summer, but the list is expected to include 50 or 60 next winter. Clothing manufactured on the project is distributed to needy families.

Councilmen instructed the city solicitor to draw up an ordinance to pay Miss Mary Elizabeth Groce, WPA office employee, from city funds. Vattier Courtwright, local WPA engineer, explained Mose Gordon, former office worker who was paid by the city, has been transferred as supervisor of the city hall and courthouse projects. Under a recent ruling from the examiners, council must authorize payment of the office worker, Mr. Courtwright said. He reported he believed money for the purpose was available from the eastend sewer project fund.

To Buy Materials

The solicitor was instructed to prepare an ordinance for the next meeting transferring $400 to the public lands buildings fund for material expenses on the city hall project. The original $400 was spent largely for the sidewalk improvements.

all Tales

LAWRENCE JOHNSON, Circleville insurance man, was conferring with a farmer prospect about insurance when he said "Did you ever meet with an accident?"

"No," said the farmer, then as an afterthought, "a mule kicked in two of my ribs once, and a rattlesnake bit me on the leg a couple of years ago."

"Great Scott!" gasped the agent, "don't you consider those accidents?"

"Naw," said the man of the soil, "they did it on purpose."

HOCKING COUNTY MAN SENTENCED TO REFORMATORY

John Williams, 23, of Rockbridge, was sentenced to one to 15 years in the Ohio reformatory, Mansfield, Thursday by Judge J. W. Adkins for violation of a two-year parole granted Feb. 6, 1935, on a burglary and larceny charge.

Williams was fined $25 and costs by Mayor W. J. Graham Monday for the theft of gasoline from a parked car. Following the police court case Ray W. Davis, prosecutor filed a motion in common pleas court asking Williams' parole be revoked.

Williams was paroled on a charge involving the theft of $5.90 worth of merchandise Jan. 2, 1935 from the filling station of J. G. Williamson, Laurelville.

have competed the first of two sea-going canoes with which they expect to explore the Pacific for several years.

The two hulls are patterned after ancient Polynesian canoes. The first one has been brought down to Waikiki Beach from the woods where it was hewed out and it is expected that the second one will be completed shortly.

Once the two hulls are in the water, they will be joined by a platform, masts and Chinese sails erected, and in about six weeks will leave on an exploring cruise of the Pacific in the same manner which the early Polynesians employed.

Their first expected port will be Clipperton Island, a French possession off the Mexican coast, where they will do research work for the French Geographic Society.

From there they expect to head for the Marquesas and other islands of the South Pacific.

GERMANS WARN SPAIN TO LEAVE VESSELS ALONE

a noticeable flare of anger over the detention of the ship.

The fact that anger in Germany over international matters as disclosed publicly, is regulated carefully by the government, lent importance to the incident.

Articles, obviously governmentally inspired, in today's newspapers, call the Spanish warships pirates, buccaneers and freebooters — warships of a nominally friendly power.

The incident is called serious, and a flagrant violation of international law.

Danger of a momentous incident was apparent.

The charge at Madrid was ordered to tell the Spanish government that Germany would hold it responsible for any repetition of such an incident as that of the detention of the Kamerun.

Though reluctant to comment, lacking confirmation of a report that two trainloads of munitions were going to the Spanish loyalists from Mexico, foreign office officials said that such a shipment would be a violation of neutrality as Germany envisaged it.

COUNTY TO HEAR CLAIMS AGAINST RURAL HIGHWAY

All Rights-of-Way Signed Except One, Officials Are Informed

CLARRIDGES ASK DAMAGES

Nearly $25,000 To Be Spent In Monroe Township

County commissioners will receive claims for compensation and damages, Sept. 10 at 2 p. m. on land appropriated for the relocation of the bridge over Buskirk's run, Monroe township, in connection with the Williamsport-Palestine road improvement.

It is understood all rights-of-way for the road improvement and construction of a new bridge have been obtained except land owned by John and Josephine Clarridge.

Improved Three Miles

This highway, listed as a Federal Works project, will be improved 3.28 miles from Five Points, northwest. It will be graded, drainage improved and resurfaced with gravel. The entire expense for the road improvement, amounting to $23,900, is to be paid by the government.

The county is to furnish rights of way and construct the new bridge, listed as a proposed WPA project. Plans are for rigid frame concrete arch structure with a 59-foot span and 26-foot roadway. Federal funds for the bridge are listed at $10,268 and the expense to the county, $5,913. The project has been sent in for federal approval.

A delegation of Monroe township residents met with the commissioners Monday urging the improvement be started as soon as possible.

TREASURY LISTS $10,026.47 SUM AS OF AUG. 19

Councilman Ben Gordon, chairman of the finance committee, told council Wednesday evening the city's fund as of Wednesday totaled $10,026.47. The funds were: general $2,920.68; library $3,593.97, auto-street repair $2,384.30; gasoline tax, $784.91, and hospital $342.08.

Charles Caskey, safety director, reported collections at Berger hospital between Aug. 1 and 15 amounted to $448.20.

USE OF MOTORS ON SURFBOARDS BELIEVED NEAR

HONOLULU (UP)—Aluminum surfboards, boards with outboard motors and a "tail" will help popularize Hawaii's famed sport of surfing in other parts of the world, according to Tom Blake, expert surfer and member of the Waikiki beach patrol.

Blake has perfected a new hollow surfboard, constructed of Georgia cypress wood, which he says is particularly adapted for big waves. It weighs 116 pounds and can be ridden in 30-foot waves.

But for localities where there is no surf, Blake predicts that a motorized surfboard with a protected propeller, now being developed, will give swimmers on lakes and inland waterfronts a chance to use a board.

COUNCIL VOTES MONEY TO BUY $1,000 OF GOODS

An ordinance appropriating $1,000 from the motor vehicle license fund to the street repair fund for material expenses was passed by councilmen Wednesday night under suspension of rules.

Councilman T. M. Barnes recommended some arrangement be made to fill the space existing between the sidewalk and curb on the north side of E. Franklin street near Court. He explained this space was dangerous for pedestrians. The report was referred to the service committee.

Councilman Ben Gordon reported on his conference with the commissioners on the Memorial hall sidewalk proposition. Two of the commissioners agreed for the county to stand half of the expense. Burr Rader, county commissioner, agreed to join with the others if all walks between the Memorial hall and Court street were repaired. Mr. Gordon said patriotic organizations would be asked to share a part of the improvement.

Carl Leist, solicitor, said he had written railroads concerning crossing improvements recommended at the last meeting but so far had received no answer.

CITY'S FIREMEN MAY USE WATER IN BIRD BATTLE

If you see one of the fire trucks making a leisurely trip past your home Thursday evening don't get excited.

The firemen are just journeying to a water carnival they have arranged to discourage blackbirds and starlings from using certain trees in the city for their roosting places.

Previous to the council meeting Wednesday evening Mayor W. J. Graham reported he had received about 25 calls from irate citizens about the blackbird menace.

Many asked to shoot firearms. The mayor warned them it was against the law for residents to discharge firearms in the city limits. He said police officers would be permitted to shoot into the trees, providing residents furnished them with shotgun shells.

Several council members suggested firemen might be able to knock out some of the birds with water, or at least chase them away. Mayor Graham requested the department to try out the suggestion.

Library Notes

A NATIVE OF CIRCLEVILLE

Harriet Mackey Turner, now a resident of Lancaster, is the author of one of the outstanding juvenile books, which are included among the fall publications. First edition copies of "Stories of Pioneer Days" have arrived in Circleville during the last week.

The Circleville library has had many pre-publication calls for this book and it is hoped that all interested friends of Mrs. Turner will have an opportunity to read it, before the opening of school brings the large demand from the boys and girls for whom these stories of long ago have been told.

Harriet Mackey is a graduate of our Circleville high school, a former teacher in the local schools, and a niece of the late superintendent of schools, Edwin L. Daley.

Her first book, a collection of stories and verses, will not only be enjoyed by children but will stir the hearts and memories of all grown-ups who read it.

Attention Fishermen

Pickaway county sportsmen are sure to be interested in "The Modern Angler," one of the newest of books on fishing.

The book has been written by John Alden Knight, a fisherman of many years' experience and will be of absorbing interest to all fresh-water anglers.

In recent years there have been so many new developments in methods and equipment that have in this book, been covered with great care. Fly fishing, rods, reels, lines, leaders and nymphs are dealt with thoroughly and the habits of fish in general and trout and bass are discussed fully.

"The Modern Angler" has just been added to the Circleville Public Library.

BRADDOCK-SCHMELING FIGHT MAY BE STAGED IN MIAMI NEXT FEBRUARY

EXPERT REPORTS
ARTHRITIS MAY STOP CHAMPION

Offers Flooding In For Joe Louis After His
Sharkey Kayo

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(UP)—The Jimmy Braddock - Max Schmeling heavyweight championship bout may be shifted from New York to a February setting in Miami, Fla., so Braddock can recover from what has been diagnosed as arthritis, it appeared today.

Schmeling suggested the southern winter locale yesterday after Dr. Fred Albee, nationally known bone specialist and "neutral" physician named by the New York Boxing commission, said the champion was suffering from arthritis in the little left finger and both elbows. The physician said Braddock would need several weeks' treatment and couldn't fight before mid or late October at the earliest.

Promoter Mike Jacobs of 20th Century and Promoter James J. Johnston of Madison Square Garden took favorably to Schmeling's suggestion.

Braddock's ailment and the revelation that he hadn't yet signed a contract for the proposed late September meeting at Madison Square Garden bowl left a tangled problem for the boxing commission to unravel tomorrow.

Heed Albee Advice

Joe Gould, his manager, said he would sign to defend against the German on any date the commission designated. But Gould was sure the commission would heed Dr. Albee's advice.

Chairman Joseph Trainer of the Illinois Boxing Commission wired Promoter Mike Jacobs an invitation to stage a return Schmeling-Joe Louis bout in Chicago. He said there was a German population of 1,000,000 in the Chicago-Cincinnati-Milwaukee area to draw from.

The Louis camp had a raft of offers as result of the Brown Bomber's three-round knockout of Jack Sharkey. Promoter "Muggsy" Taylor and Manager Lew Tendler of Philadelphia urged Jacobs to let Louis fight Al Ettore, three-time conqueror of Leroy Haynes, in Philadelphia, Sept. 14. Promoter Elwood Rigby of Pittsburgh wanted Louis for a bout against Al Gainer, New Haven, Conn., Negro, early in October.

Jacobs said he'd probably accept these offers if the Braddock-Schmeling bout goes through.

BOSTON OUTFIT PROVES FAILURE
DESPITE MONEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(UP)—The fortunes of Tom Yawkey's million-dollar Boston Red Sox stood at a new low today.

Front-runners during early weeks of the American league campaign, runners-up to the New York Yankees through most of May and June, the Hub hose have skidded to the point where they are just a 50-50 proposition, with 59 victories and 59 defeats on their record.

Billed as sure-fire pennant contenders on the basis of Yawkey's off-season outlay of $350,000 for new players, the Red Sox are currently in sixth place, 17½ games behind the Yankees.

ESPINOSA WINS
OHIO OPEN GOLF
MEET WITH 282

CINCINNATI, Aug. 20.—(UP)—One of the nation's name golfers, swarthy Al Espinosa of Akron, today held the Ohio Open golf championship.

The 40-year-old Spaniard whose family was among the original settlers of California under Father Junipero Serra when he conquered that country for New Spain and founded the famed California missions, shattered par for the Make-tewah Country club course over the gruelling 72-hole medal play route and had a winning aggregate of 282, six strokes under par.

In a three-way tie for fourth place when the final 36 holes of play began yesterday, Espinosa came through with a scorching card of 69 on his third round to jump into the lead at the 54 hole mark and then withstood a great stretch bid by Billy Burke, another one of the country's ace professionals, to gain the crown and the top prize money of $150.

EAGLES DEFEAT
PICKAWAY DAIRY
TO NEAR TITLE

Victorious over two strong foes in the last two days, the Eagles go to work tonight for their third straight victory and one that will just about clinch the second half title for the feathered club.

The Pickaway Dairy outfit, a strong contender for the last half honors until this week arrived, fell behind 4 to 5 Wednesday in one of the best-played games of the year.

Raymond Smith was in good form for the Eagles.

Get in Condition!

We'd advise youths who expect to make the Circleville high school gridiron team this fall to start getting into condition—Cut out the heavy puffing on cigarettes, lay off the very fatty foods, get regular sleep, and do what you can to harden yourself—Proper condition will help you a lot in your effort to make the varsity—Coach Jack Landrum, as most of you know, demands that you train—This year the boys who get into proper shape and work hard on the practice field are going to carry the colors of the Tiger into battle . . . Right now, not a position is clinched . . .

Many Coaching Changes

There will be several new coaches in the Pickaway county school system this fall and winter, but two old standbys, Wib Griffith and Al Kauber, continue to uphold the prestige of

WELCOME! RELIGIOUS VISITORS

EACH Circleville citizen extends his right hand to delegates and visitors to the Ohio council of Churches of Christ in Christian Union. Several thousand persons will be guests of our city during the annual council, and it is the duty of every person, whether merchant or private citizen, to extend a hearty welcome.

In recent years Circleville has been honored by the camp meeting and sessions of the council of this great religious organization, and a splendid way for residents of the city is to be courteous to the visitors at every opportunity.

Again, Churches of Christ in Christian Union, we welcome you.

VANISHING DEPRESSION

THE successful business men of the future are being made today. Their advertisements are in this issue of The Herald.

The store that doesn't advertise now will never do more business than it is doing today. When there is more business the stores that advertise will get the increased volume.

The public has learned that stores that do not advertise do not offer the best prices, the best merchandise or the latest styles. Volume of turnover made possible by newspaper advertising benefits the customer most of all.

Business is on the upgrade. Mills are humming at a rate that is steadily accelerating, automobile factories are turning out a hundred thousand new cars a week, freight car loadings, are gaining weekly, bank clearings show marked advances over a year ago, employment figures are mounting.

Well, it was a bad depression, but it will soon be over. Except for firms that do not advertise.

Mr. McBain, of Columbia, says the existence of Heaven is unproved. He does not, however, propose to send out an exploring expedition.

Exaggeration isn't lying. You must say that you nearly died laughing to put over the idea that you were amused.

It is kind of nature to let us be sick before we die. If we died feeling good, we wouldn't know when to repent.

To eliminate knaves, one must first eliminate fools. an you blame the cat if you leave a fish on the table?

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up to probably the stickiest day of the Summer and away to the plant to find most of the force already on the job after working into the small hours the night before. Gluttons for work, these newspapermen, when they see a good edition in the making. A fine force from the newest printer's devil right on up.

Noted the vanguard of the Churches of Christian Union, assembled for their annual camp meeting, and the Retail Merchants banners at Court and Main streets welcoming the thousands of visitors who will be here for the big event. Read with intense interest the merchandise bargains offered by the city's merchants and displayed in this issue. The present sale is one of a series intended to educate the buyers of this part of the state that this is a village in which they may reasonably expect the best for their money. For almost a year now have compared advertised values daily and am convinced that the smart buyers are spending their money in Circleville. Those who do not take advantage of the offerings of this store are going themselves a disservice by spending more money than is necessary. If merchants continue their present efforts, and they are determined to do so, then this city will be known far and wide well within another year. Advertising efforts of other communities will be booming on their producers by helping advertise Circleville.

A busy morning that passed too swiftly and then home to a quick lunch, but halting on the return trip by an invitation to tea, issued by two charming young ladies. Although just having left the luncheon table was able to down two cups of tea that proved to be slightly sweetened warm water, but was forced to refuse the cakes that appeared to have been handled altogether too much by little fingers. Tea over, came a polite request to examine whether it could be trusted, which it could, for the time being at least. Believe the ulterior motive for the tea invitation was that swing, but could forgive much of such charming little hostesses.

How pleasant those low hanging clouds during the afternoon and the wind that accompanied them, even though the breeze was a mite strong and blew away the possibility of rain. I fear that the weatherman has been right once more in forecasting a return of the heat wave.

Oh well, the coal dealers are beginning to call our attention to Winter, so zero blasts may not be so far away and then we will be wishing for some of this heat of which we now complain.

Long afternoon hours on the streets and in the back shop and again in the evening, making certain that this edition would be delivered on time, and then home and directly to bed, even passing up the usual pleasure of a raid on the refrigerator.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

FARLEY HAS TURNED NEBRASKA

WASHINGTON — Big Jim Farley's chickens are coming home to roost in Nebraska, with the result that the State which went for Roosevelt in 1932 may be lost in 1936

The White House has become so alarmed over the situation that the President is giving it his private and personal attention.

The gloomy state of affairs is due entirely to Big Jim's penchant for playing machine politics. His love-feast with the two Old Guard Democratic bosses of Nebraska has not only split the party wide open but has alienated the liberal Republicans whose votes Roosevelt must win to carry the state.

The Nebraska Democratic organization is dominated by Arthur Mullen, former National Committeeman, and Senator Edward R. Burke, Mullen's henchman and successor to his place on the National Committee. And while playing ball with Jim Farley on one hand, these two have smeared the Administration in practically everything they have said or done.

RELIGIOUS ISSUE

Nebraska only has four big patronage plums—a federal judge, U. S. Attorney, Collector of Internal Revenue and U. S. Marshal. Despite vehement protests from liberals and Democrats, Farley has backed up Mullen and Burke in filling every one of these places with Catholics.

That the religious issue should be made a factor in a campaign is extremely unfortunate. It is un-American and bigoted. But the fact remains that in Nebraska it has been made an issue against the Administration because of Mullen-Burke-Farley ineptitude.

Burke has capped his covert sabotage by harpooning the New Deal openly. In the Senate he lined up against the President on every major Administration measure. And on the stump he has been vigorously denouncing the Administration for criticizing the Supreme Court. His speeches would do justice to a Liberty Leaguer.

ONLY HOPE

Political scouts have reported to the White House that Senator George Norris, Nebraska's great liberal, is the only hope for saving the State for Roosevelt.

If Norris can be persuaded to run for re-election as a pro-Roosevelt Independent, he might rally sufficient liberal support to put the President over.

Norris is for Roosevelt. But he is indifferent about seeking a fifth term. For the last two months he has been quietly vacationing in the Wisconsin lake country, with no indication as to whether he will accept the "call".

It has been suggested that Roosevelt make a personal appeal to Norris to enter the race. But Mullen and Burke are energetically prodding Farley to dissuade the President. Whether they succeed remains to be seen.

Every savior must begin by being a heretic.

Love isn't Important

By LOUISE JERROLD

COPYRIGHT L. C. PAGE & CO., INC., RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Gay Elwell, check girl in a prominent Detroit club, meets a number of social elite when she fills in at a dinner party at the request of Doctor Wilson, a club member. One is Breck Carter who is very friendly toward Gay. Another, Wayne Adams who is both interested and annoyed by her; and finally, Tim Keenan and Christian Scott, both millionaires. Just as Wayne makes it evident he is beginning to care for Gay, he tells her he plans to return to New York shortly. Tim Keenan, who is pretending a deep interest in Gay to arouse the jealousy of his fiancée, Eleanor Randolph, and hasten her return from Europe, announces his plans for a house party. Reluctantly Gay allows Tim to take her home from Wayne's party instead of returning with Wayne who had brought her.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 27

TIM MOVED closer to Gay as they drove home.

"This isn't such a hard game to play, pretending to be crazy about you, youngster. You're mighty easy to look at. I'll be losing my fool head over you in earnest, if I don't watch out."

"I'm not a bit afraid of you, Tim. We're going to make a business thing of this, and I'm sure it won't be long before Miss Randolph'll run home to snatch you out of what everyone thinks are my gold-digging fingers."

Tim's lips clamped together. After a pause, he said, "I've been too patient with Eleanor. Waiting for years, urging, trying heaven knows what! If this jealousy stuff doesn't turn the trick—" Then his laugh boomed out. "We certainly started something tonight. And won't Grace Larrimore and Peggy speed it up! And here's an idea. Why not let me rent an apartment for you, right in the Devonshire Arms?"

"No, thanks," Gay looked directly at him. "I see I've got to tell you again, in words of one syllable. I won't do this for pay. I like you fine, Tim, and Miss Randolph has been a perfect lamb to me. I'll be glad to do every single thing I can to bring you together. But if you mention money again, I'm through."

"And there's something else I want to tell you. I can't be at your house party. I'd adore it, but I'm on night duty next week, and there's not a chance in the world of getting away."

"Nonsense," he flared. "You'll do as I say. You're coming to that house party, or I'll know the reason why."

"I'm telling you the reason!" "Damn foolishness," he roared. "You'll be off next week-end. Hear me?"

"I'm not deaf," she returned, demurely. His voice softened. "I believe I have enough influence at the Pontchartrain to swing things my way. I happen to be president, and what I say goes. You'll be off duty next week-end. That's set."

"All right, Mr. President. But moving away from my Erikside street mansion is out, until I can afford something better myself. That's set, too."

"Proud, aren't you?" He looked at her with eyes that were friendly and wise. "I like you all the better for it. But you'll have to let me have my way in a few things, while you're my girl. Want a car?"

Gay smiled. "Aren't you funny? I don't even know how to drive—and when would I have time for it?"

"Whenever you like, Gay, a car and driver are at your disposal. And now, about clothes. Don't interrupt me, please. You'll have to dress the part, you know. That's important. And I'll make it easy for you," he hurried on, his manner kinder than ever. "What's your bank?"

Gay turned on him a slightly uncomprehending look, then, as his meaning grew clear, she burst out laughing. "My bank, Tim? Well, sometimes I borrow from Jean, and sometimes she borrows from me!"

He assumed a brisk, business-like manner. "Tomorrow you'll have a commercial account at the branch of the Keenan Industrial bank right across the street from the club."

"Tim! I won't!" But Gay did arrange to obtain some more new clothes—to carry on her plan with Tim, to arouse Eleanor's jealousy.

Gay had taken her roommate into frank confidence, regarding her arrangement with Tim Keenan. "I do hope it works," Gay had wound up her leisurely recital over the Sunday morning breakfast.

"Tim Keenan and Miss Randolph are both such darlings—they're made for each other! Wouldn't it be grand if she really did get jealous, hearing about Tim and me—and came hurrying home?"

"Oh, but not too soon," Jean cried. "Gee, think of the things Tim can do for you—and the grand places he'll take you! And paying you besides!"

"He's not paying me, in money," Gay insisted. "That would spoil it for me. But it's just as Tim says—I've got to dress the part, and make Miss Randolph's friends believe he's wild to marry me."

"What a break!" Jean sighed enviously. "Kid, when I say you're lucky, that's not the half of it!"

Gay modestly admitted her luck, and admitted it again with a thrill of exultation when, on Saturday morning, a smartly uniformed driver helped her into the Keenan town car which Tim had sent for her.

In spite of the sultry heat of that June morning, Gay leaned back against the beige cushions in her best young debutante manner.

Inwardly, she was chuckling at the posthumous coup of fate that was letting her, a mere check girl, be driven in state to Tim Keenan's house party at Lake Paradise.

Then she forgot to pose, and sat forward, surrendering herself to the pure enjoyment of steady, measured speed—out of the crowded, hot city, into the cool green loveliness of the country, under a brilliant turquoise sky.

Again that splendid gateway, the picturesque lodge nearby, the long avenue of trees, the first glimpse of the stately house. Just as before, it gave her a sensation of unreality.

As the car swung up the drive, and stopped, Gay saw Tim detach himself from a group of people on the veranda. All eyes were centered on her, Gay realized, in interested observance of her arrival in one of Tim's own automobiles.

Then Tim was dashing down the steps, to forestall the chauffeur in handing Gay out of the car.

The grip of Tim's hand, and the pleased note in his voice, put her immediately at ease. "The top of the morning to you!" His eyes were sending her a message of keen satisfaction with her appearance. He whispered, "Judas, youngster! You're too good-looking to be true!"

Her hand on his arm, laughing into each other's eyes, they mounted the steps together. Gay knew she was making an arresting picture, and a triumphant entrance into the house party.

She was wearing red-and-white sports clothes; simple, exquisite perfection for her youth and slim figure, from the small, drooping hat of white linen to the expensive white slippers, white do's skin gloves, and the white-and-red handbag.

Gay had decided in the car, to assume what she called her "Vivien Bennett" manner of poised aloofness when she met the other members of the house party. But suddenly she forgot affectation and was herself: an unspoiled girl, with the lovely appeal of youth and enchanting shyness.

Then she was shaking hands, and being received with varying degrees of cordiality.

Breck was the first to greet her. "As I live and breathe, if it isn't old man Elwell's girl! How's Syracuse these days?"

"Hello, Miss Elwell," Peggy broke in, smiling, with affected sweetness in Gay's direction.

Grace Larrimore made her usual speech to Gay.

"How d'you do? You always remind me of the Wilson dinner, which would have been such a fiasco, but for you."

"Who's taking the Wilson name in vain?" The short, stocky figure of Doctor Wilson was planted directly before Gay, and her hands were gripped in his. . . . "Glad to see you again! You're here! We arrived in town yesterday, and Tim insisted on Marian finishing her convalescence here, while he trims me at golf. You haven't forgotten my friend, little Miss Smith from Syracuse, have you Marian?" he grinned broadly.

Marian Wilson, in jade-green sports clothes, her figure as youthful and slender as Gay's, but her black eyes enormous in her thin, haggard face, stopped her animated monologue to Mrs. Larrimore long enough to remark dryly over her shoulder, "No. I haven't forgotten Miss—er—"

"Elwell," supplied the doctor, but Marian was no longer listening. He drew Gay aside, and added in a lowered voice, "We must have a talk, sooner or later."

"Hush, listen, doctor!" It was Breck again, momentarily escaped from Peggy's leash. "You old boys had your fun with the girls years ago. Give somebody else a chance!" He had barely time to whisper in Gay's ear: "Meet me tonight—late—the garden—" before Peggy imperiously claimed him again.

"It's almost lunch time, darling," she cried. "If you don't want to steer up the golf game," she was holding him out of the danger zone, toward the doorway, her arm linked in his.

Gay's glance followed them—Peggy all in yellow, Breck handsome as ever in his well-tailored golf clothes.

"Nice," Gay said to herself, and turned to smile up into the unsmiling eyes of Wayne, who repeated aloud, "Nice, aren't they?"

"You mean Peggy and Breck? They do pair off well together."

He spoke without much interest, as though making polite conversation with a stranger.

Almost from the first, Gay had been aware of his tall, familiar figure, leaning with an air of boredom against a pillar. As he stood beside her now, she saw that his face was rather pale, with tired lines under his eyes, and about his mouth—perhaps from all night work over his inventions, she thought. She had to guard against showing her troubled concern for his evident weariness.

Large Crowd Attends Hebron Church Outing

Fish Fry Is Enjoyed;
Yinger Boy, Girl
Win Contest

A large crowd attended the all day fish fry and amateur night, sponsored by members of the Methodist Episcopal church at Hebron, five miles northwest of Williamsport of which Rev. P. C. Harlan is pastor.

This was the church's first attempt at sponsoring such an affair and it proved a decided success.

Those attending enjoyed the fish fry and picnic dinner and outdoor sports during the afternoon and in the evening quite a crowd gathered to hear the amateur night program.

Samuel Kendrick had charge of arrangements for the program.

The first number was a violin solo by Mary Ellen Dumm of Clarksburg, followed by a piano solo by Betty Campbell, vocal duet by Wendell Morrison and Carl Reisinger, accordion duet by Medra and Ned Ater, guitar solo by Orville West of Williamsport, imitations by George Clevenger, banjo and guitar by Kenneth Campbell and Joe Dumm. Wade Fry of Stoutsville entertained with music played on five different instruments. Vocal selections by Neff Brothers of Grange Hall, vocal duet by Herschel Yinger and sister, vocal solo by Charles Dresbach, duet by Maxine and Betty Wright, vocal solos by Roger Keaton and Carl Reisinger concluded the program.

Prizes were awarded to Herschel Yinger and sister for the vocal duet; second to Medra and Ned Ater for the accordion duet, and third to George Clevenger for his imitations.

In closing Herschel Yinger and his sister sang "My Mother-in-Law" and "That Little Mother of Mine."

The judges were Ren Mumaw and Mrs. A. H. Morris of Circleville, and George Shride, Pickaway county.

Ice Cream Social

The ladies of the Aid Society and Sunday school of the Yankee-town church will hold an old-fashioned ice cream social on Wednesday, August 26, at the church.

A quilt made by members will be given away.

Ladies Aid Society

The Ladies' Aid society of the United Brethren church will hold its regular monthly meeting at the community house, Thursday, August 27. The meeting is called for two o'clock.

Young Peoples' Society

The Young Peoples' society of Christ Lutheran church have planned an outdoor meeting for Friday evening, August 21, at Dewey Park. The meeting is scheduled for seven o'clock and those attending are asked to bring weiners, buns and marshmallows.

Dinner Guests

Mrs. Myrtle Reichelderfer of Tarlton had as dinner guests Thursday, Mrs. Lloyd Sprouse and son Bobby of Logansport, Indiana, Mrs. H. E. Mowery of Circleville, Mrs. Lawrence Hedges and children, Miriam, Lilajene and Donald of Laurelville, and Mrs. Cora Macklin of Tarlton.

Sorosis Club

The Sorosis Club spent a pleasant evening Monday at the home of Miss Margaret Dunlap.

During the business session, plans were made for a benefit bridge party to be held Wednesday, September 23.

Mrs. Edna H. Newhouse, leader for the evening, read a paper on "Ohio, Its Government." The story depicted the arrival of the first settlers in the state, and the growth of the various units of state government. Important people, places and events of the several counties throughout the state were discussed, beginning at the time of the founding of the state and extending to the present time.

Mrs. Harry J. Dunlap read a very interesting paper on the general history and events of the

Ladies Aid Picnic

The annual picnic for members of the Ringgold Ladies' Aid society and families proved an enjoyable affair. It was held at the Logan Elm State Park Thursday.

Members and their families were invited for all day and 52 responded.

Plenty of good food was enjoyed at the noon hour and the afternoon was spent in ball games for men and a pleasant social time for the ladies.

The short business meeting was conducted by Rev. George Troutman.

Sewing Club

Regular members and two house guests of the sewing club were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Henry Mader, Pinckney street, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. R. L. Brehmer and Mrs. T. O. Gilliland were the invited guests.

Sewing and a pleasant social time was enjoyed, with the serving

Twoed Suit for Fall

TWEEDS are very much in the fashion spotlight for fall. The pocket detail is very smart and a cord of tweed ties the three-quarter-length jacket together at the throat.

of a delicious salad course completing the afternoon's pleasure.

Club members attending were Mrs. Carson Dresbach and Mrs. Alice Riegel of Kingston, Mrs. Ralph Boggs, Mrs. Wallace Crist, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Clarence Ater and Mrs. Charles Myers.

D. U. V. Meeting

One of the most enjoyable meetings of the year was held Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. W. E. Pickens invited members of the Daughters of Union Veterans for their sewing at her home in Columbus.

The home was artistically decorated in garden flowers for the occasion and sewing and a social time was enjoyed.

At the close of the afternoon guests enjoyed lovely refreshments on the spacious veranda.

Attending from Circleville were Mrs. Irene Newton, Mrs. W. C. Morris, Mrs. George E. Hammel, Mrs. Noah Spangler, Mrs. Charles Stofor, Miss Anna Kirkwood, Mrs. Charles Cook, Mrs. Irene Jenkins and son, Miss Edith Moore, Mrs. Chris Palm, Mrs. Cora Coffland, Mrs. L. E. Miller, Miss Nellie Palm, Miss Mary Haines, Mrs. Gertrude Webb, Mrs. James Carpenter, and Mrs. James Trimmer.

The next sewing will be at the home of Mrs. N. G. Spangler, W. High street, at which time she will be hostess to members.

Mr. and Mrs. Kline Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kline, Jr., entertained members of their mixed club at a pleasant evening of bridge Wednesday at their home on S. Court street. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Geib were invited as guests.

After several rounds of contract bridge played at three tables prizes were merited by Paul Cromley and Mrs. Harold Eveland. Members present were Mr. and Mrs. Barton Deming, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eveland, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wittmer, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cromley.

Fraternity Dance

Twenty-five couples from Lancaster attended the Alpha Chi Chapter, Phi Sigma Chi fraternity dinner dance, Wednesday evening at the Gold Cliff Chateau.

Dinner was served at eight o'clock following by dancing to the strains of Paul Stoudt's orchestra until twelve o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Starkey and family, Mrs. Elias Starkey and Miss Ella Mae Stapleton of Logan street, left Thursday morning to attend the Great Lakes Exposition at Cleveland.

Mrs. Robert Criswell and her house guest, Miss Mary Muldoon of Columbus, were business visitors in Cincinnati, Thursday.

PATTERN 5426

It's easy to show your skill as a crocheter and to make a small wardrobe look large with this captivating shirtwaist blouse. It's in a close lacy stitch that's ever so easy to learn and is a smart contrast to a plain crocheted skirt. The full raglan sleeves, that may be either long or short, are always flattering. In pattern 5426 you will find instructions for making the blouse in sizes 16-18 and 38-40; an illustration of it and of the stitches needed; material requirements. Price of pattern 10c. In pattern 5353 you will find instructions for making the skirt in sizes 16-18 and 38-40; an illustration of it and of the stitches needed; material requirements. Price of pattern 10c. To obtain these patterns send 10 cents each (20 cents for both) in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Herald, Household Arts Department, 210 N. Court street, Circleville, Ohio. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

SURVEY SHOWS
ACCIDENT TOLL
HIGH ON FARMS

NEW YORK (UP)—Farming ranks first as a hazardous occupation with fatal accidents averaging 4,400 annually, a survey by the Country Life magazine reveals. "In a factory," the farm publication says, "where machines are inspected regularly and carefully, accidents are relatively few. In almost every occupation accidents are foreseen and forestalled. But recognizing and eliminating potential accident hazards in farming is far more of a job because of their wide variety and their deceptive commonplaceness."

"There are three major and frequent causes of farm accidents: poor repair of farm buildings; careless handling of livestock and improper use of farm equipment. And the sad part about all these accidents, is that they are unnecessary. They could easily be prevented."

It is the little things that cause the most tragedy—loose floors, boards, broken stair treads, defective stepladders, loose matches, improperly marked poisons, improper use of kerosene and gasoline, not keeping a close eye on the bull in the pasture lot, and so forth, the magazine says.

And then, of course, there's fire, which last year cost farms and rural towns a quarter of a billion dollars.

Christian hymns have been translated into more than 200 languages.

PEACH SNOWBANK PIE

One baked and cooled pastry shell
Three egg whites
One-fourth teaspoon cream of tartar
One-half cup sugar
Four or five fresh peaches
One pint ice cream, frozen hard

Add cream of tartar to egg whites and beat until stiff. Then add sugar gradually, beating only until dissolved. Line pastry shell with freshly sliced peaches. Sweeten if fruit is tart. Cover fruit with slices of stiffly frozen ice cream and top with a few peach slices. Cover with meringue. Must cover entire surface and must be thick enough to keep the ice cream from melting. Place in cold oven under broiler and brown quickly. If a broiler is not available, the pie may be placed on a rack near the top of an oven at 425 degrees F. until it is delicately browned (about 5 minutes). Serve immediately.

MEETING THROUG CIRCLEVILLE

Thousands To Take Part
In Program; Pastors
Elect Keaton

Rev. Willard Cozad, Wellston; credentials, the Rev. Cozad, Rev.
George Kline, Cable, and Rev. Glen Johnson, South Bloomingville.
Support Movement

In a stirring address Wednesday afternoon the Rev. Mr. Keaton urged pastors and delegates to take an extensive part in the Holiness Movement being conducted by churches throughout the country and give greater attention to the development of pastors.

His address in part follows:
"Another council year has come to a close and a new outlook with its responsibilities has come. Before the onslaughts of the world the nominal church has broken down and is drifting with the tide,
with no particular port in view;
visions gone, no soul burden and no spiritual ideals, while the world moves on with amazing rapidity in its godless course downward as if there was no God, no day of retribution and no hereafter."

"For such a time as this God has raised up what is commonly known as the Holiness Movement, to accomplish his purpose for these last days. This movement has not been raised up to stand still but to move forward in the great work of soul winning and preparation for the second coming of our Lord. If this great movement, of which the Church of Christ is a part, ceases to move, then stagnation, worldliness and powerlessness will be the inevitable result. God has given us a field and a work peculiar to ourselves for which we alone are responsible. Therefore let us not lose the vision, the faith or the fire, but let us arise and build. The world is doing things on a large scale with worldly resources. Why can not the church do things on a large scale with heavenly resources.
While we must continue to be evangelistic we must give also greater attention to the development of efficient pastors, to men who not only know how to preach but who know how to manage a church and deal with difficult problems both moral and financial."

MOVIE PEONIES NOW
Peonies bloom best if divided every four or five years. August is the month to do this. Make division with at least three eyes and care should be used to not plant the clump too deep. Just half an inch of soil over the tips of the eyes is right. Superphosphate or bone meal can well be incorporated into the soil when the planting is done for both of these are long period fertilizers and they do not wash much deeper than they are mixed with the soil so they are not good surface fertilizers.

Perennials which bloomed before the middle of July can also be moved and divided now, the late blooming ones had best be left till after frost or early Spring

WIDE OPEN SPACES VANISH

CANBERRA, Australia (UP)— Australia's "wide open unmap- ped spaces" have now shrunk to the extent of a photograph file, fol- lowing an aerial survey just com- pleted by two machines of the Royal Australian Air Force. The photographs embrace 1,000 square miles.

"Soak the Rich" advocates should remember, if they win, that their ship of state will have to ride some pretty big swells.

A future as a flagpole sitter awaits the little girl who ran away from home in Cleveland to climb fire plugs.

FOREST FIRES RAGE IN NORTH COUNTRY DESPITE MANY PRECAUTIONS

TOURISTS' WORK OVERCOMES JOB OF U.S. EXPERTS

Observers Watch Constantly For Outbreaks, But Flames Continue To Harass

ELY, Minnesota, Aug. The sky is blue and cloudless above the land o' lakes. "No sign of rain—" Furrows of care bite into the brow of a tanned forest ranger as he scans the sky, ever hopeful for a quenching shower.

It's tourists time in Minnesota's lakeland. The greatest influx of vacationists in many years has been keeping resort owners hopping from dawn until midnight. And each vacationist carries a potential forest fire in every cigarette and every match. A careless moment, a thoughtless gesture may start a blaze that will sweep thousands of acres of dry timber. And many acres have burned this summer.

Constant Vigil

In his crow's nest atop an 80-foot tower, young August Carlson, observer of the Fernberg lookout station, 25 miles east and north of here, in the heart of the Superior National forest, watches constantly.

Upon his vigilance (and the vigilance of other observers whose stations are perched on the heights of hills throughout the forest) may depend the saving of many square miles of timber and of homes, resorts and possibly lives. A fire, discovered and reported before it gains headway, may be checked with little resultant damage. But a fire that has an hour's start before it is reported may endanger a large area.

At the base of the Fernberg tower is the cabin where Carlson and Mrs. Carlson live. But Observer Carlson cannot leave his crow's nest for five minutes without reporting his absence by phone to his supervisor. So he munches sandwiches and drinks coffee from a bottle, 80 feet above his cabin where his wife eats her noonday meal. From eight in the morning until six at night he's on duty.

First Short Wave Radio

In the Fernberg tower is the first short wave transmitting and receiving unit to be used by the forest service in the Superior area. There is one portable field set in use, also, and at intervals the two sets communicate. Let's listen in as Observer Carlson makes a call: "Station WWKS, TL129, calling WWKS, KS148. Things are O. K. here. O. K. here. Any message Web?"

Through the loudspeaker comes an answer: "Station WWKS, KS148, answering WWKS TL129. Nothing to Observer Carlson in his crow's nest. Using a short wave field set for checking fires. A forest fire at night.

report here. We're on the Snow-bank-Disappointment lake portage."

A Compact Unit

The field set, a compact unit in a box a foot long and six or eight inches in width and height, has an efficient range of eight or ten miles, using a 14-foot aerial flung over a tree limb. Its operator, C. W. (Web) Cavanaugh, is supervisor of a crew of a dozen relief laborers who are constructing portages for canoeists, but who are ready to hurry to any spot in the Kawashwi (pronounced Kashaway) district where fire threatens.

Frank Liggett, district ranger, keeps himself constantly informed as to where the crew is located, and radio is ever ready to direct them. In the present time of drought calls are made at frequent intervals.

Every party of canoeists that enters the forest during the arid season is given a fire permit, urging extreme caution when smoking, extinguishing camp fires, etc.

If You Toss a Cigarette

Suppose, however, that a careless fisherman flips a cigarette butt into the needle-covered forest floor. It smoulders and sets a tiny blaze which quickly mounts. A gray wisp of tell-tale smoke catches the observer's eye, in his tower. Immediately he calls his supervisor by telephone. (In the future, radio will have replaced the telephone and there'll be no maintenance of wires necessary. When a fire is raging it may sever telephone lines, but it can't cut off ether waves.)

Location of a fire is quickly and accurately made. A table in the lookout's glass-enclosed crow's nest has as its top a large-scale map of the forest surrounding the tower. From the points on the map corresponding to the very spots where towers are situated, small brass pegs arise. Scribed about each peg is a circle, six or seven inches in diameter. That circle, using true north as zero and 360, is graduated in degrees. East, for instance, is 90 degrees, and south is 180.

A brass gadget, resembling a ruler equipped with rifle sights, has a hole drilled in one end to engage the peg. The observer sits by his table and looks at the smoke through the sights in the same manner as a rifleman "draws a bead" on a target. Then he notes the degree on the circle which his besighted ruler indicates, and he reports his sighting to other observers.

Meanwhile, from neighboring towers, possibly a dozen miles or more distant, observers have found the smoke and taken readings. By plotting on a map the readings of three stations, the fire's location is established.

To the Fire!

Then it's a matter of getting men on the scene to fight the flames. Scoop and canoe, truck, foot and airplane—any or all of those means may be used. The forest service has equipment—pumps, hose, shovels, motors, axes, beaters—stationed at strategic points and ready for an instant use.

Airplanes are prepared to answer emergency calls from the forest service, to take men and equipment for fire-fighting. Several planes with pontoons for alighting on lakes are based at Ely, where the Superior forest supervisor has headquarters.

The forest service has no plane of its own, but it has one under emergency duties. Planes can cover in an hour a distance which might take two days for a party to travel by canoe. And speed, with radio and telephone and airplane, is a necessity if the Minnesota lakeland forest is to be kept safe from fire's disaster.

PACIFIC MARKED AS NEW CENTER OF CIVILIZATION

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Opportunity for advancement in the world today lies in the Pacific area, Dr. Adamantios Plyzoides of the University of Southern California has been telling California audiences lately.

"The European civilization is a dying one today," declares Dr. Plyzoides, "while the new world, vital, progressive and dynamic, lies along the Pacific."

The future development of world opportunity lies, he believes, with the reawakening of Japan, China and Russia.

"While the various political movements in the Far East," says Dr. Plyzoides, "may not be to our liking, yet because of those movements one-half of the world's population is awakening to the future. With this awakening, the opportunity for business and cultural development of American institutions will be unlimited."

"Competition from European sources will be only negligible because the European nations are so interested in their petty international backyard fights to see what they are missing in the way of truly world development."

CAMPUS EDITOR FIGHTS CENSOR

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Edward Hodge, El Paso, student-editor of the summer semi-weekly issue of the "Daily Texan," has dug in for a fight against faculty censorship, confident he will win when the regular student body returns to the University of Texas for the fall term.

Students elect the editor of their college paper. It is published in a university building with university-owned equipment and university assistance. Independent publications are barred.

H. Y. Benedict, president of the university, argues that because the Texan is issued as a university publication, the university has a right to control its articles. Regents took the same view and named the censor—an instructor in the university's department of Journalism.

Banned by the censor are articles on national and state politics. Censorship was ordered after an editorial on Colorado River flood control and power projects had appeared. First to be deleted was an editorial on sulphur taxes.

Uncensored have been articles on the censorship. One praised President Benedict and the regents sarcastically. Another was a "model editorial." It urged students to keep off the grass on the campus.

As news stories uncensored, were printed the statements of Rep. Maury Maverick, San Antonio. He threatens to make the censorship a national issue in a September speech.

Gov. James V. Allred is neutral and has announced a "hands off policy."

Regents serve six terms, so staggered that two retire each two years. Succeeding governors fill the vacancies.

gated that two retire each two years. Succeeding governors fill the vacancies.

Texas newspapers are divided. Some see in the censorship of the "Summer Texan" a blow at freedom of speech and writing. Others distinguished between a college publication and other newspapers.

A wife is a person who thinks it is all right to bowl out her husband before company if she adds the word "honey."

Circleville Family Praises Gas Heat Performance In Coldest Weather

Mrs. Leslie Pontius Heated Seven Room Home For $12.83 Per Month

CONVENIENCE STRESSED

Gas heat met all the heating requirements of this Circleville family during the most severe winter in many years. Attention-free heat of healthful, even temperature was enjoyed in this seven room home, according to Mrs. Leslie Pontius, West High Street.

Mrs. Pontius had this to say of her modern gas heating plant. "We were able to keep as warm as we desired, even in the coldest weather. It was a pleasure not to have to fire the furnace."

This ideal indoor "weather" was maintained all winter long in the Pontius home at an average cost of $12.83 per month.

Requires No Attention

Many so-called "modern" improvements are, reasonably enough, better than old methods, but automatic gas heat is the only truly modern convenience that requires no attention. Late model automobiles are certainly better than "old Dobbins", yet, automobiles require more attention in driving. The vacuum cleaner is an improvement over sweeping with a broom, but you must still push it. Modern lighting is preferred to the oil lamp, yet, the lights must be turned off and on. Gas heating may be forgotten from fall until spring. It banishes

Pontius Home on West High Street

the drudgery of shoveling fuel and ashes. It eliminates furnace dirt that sifts through the house, thereby lightening the housework that must be done in the winter. Using gas heat that is thermostatically regulated is assurance that there will never be uneven temperatures in the home to cause winter ailments.

The savings made possible by eliminating and reducing expenses incidental to old-fashioned heating, more than account for any difference that may be associated with the cost of gas as fuel.

Free Estimate Furnished

Simplicity of installing one of these gas fired units that are so easily adaptable to your present furnace or boiler, is another of the features that appeals to many people. Payments may be made on an easy monthly basis. An estimate of the cost of heating your home will be furnished by a competent heating engineer without obligation. Why not take advantage of this free service now by clipping the coupon below and mailing it to The Gas Company, or if more convenient, just telephone The Gas Company office.

TH DECREE ENDORSED BY WOMAN OF BAR

Innocent, Is Freed

Head Of National Group
Includes Her Sex In Box Stand

CHICAGO, (UP)—Women law breakers have no right to expect clemency when their clashes with society are punishable by death. Mrs. Uperilla Randolph, president of the National Association of Women Lawyers, believes.

Women fought for equal consideration with men in all things and now they will have to take it, even if it means the electric chair, she told members of the Women's Bar Association of Illinois.

The soft-voiced little woman was discussing the fate of Mrs. Mildred Bolton, the first woman in Illinois to be sentenced to the electric chair. Mrs. Bolton's execution has been set for Oct. 29.

"As long as such devastating crimes as kidnapping and murder occur to desolate the homes and the heart of the world," Mrs. Randolph said, "we must have some punishment stronger than imprisonment."

Must Be Same Yoke . . . . . Women fought for a place on an equal basis with men in all kinds of work. They must accept that place without fear or favor. The yoke that falls on men must also fall on women. They can't ask favors of the law."

Mrs. Randolph, who began practicing law in Los Angeles 17 years ago to support an invalid husband and a small son, avoids criminal cases herself, preferring to handle guardianship and trustee affairs.

"Many women don't believe in capital punishment," Mrs. Randolph said, "but in California we found it checked kidnapping. The wisdom of the world has not yet reached the point where we can abolish this punishment."

Mrs. Randolph looks forward to an improvement in human nature which will "just naturally eliminate capital punishment."

Urges Women Legislators . . . . . Women who want to do something more immediate can seek election to state legislatures and bring their views to bear on state laws, she said.

"There ought to be more women legislators and more women on juries," Mrs. Randolph said, commending the Illinois Bar Association for its successful fight to win this conquest for women of the state.

"Women have a peculiar understanding of laws which pertain to the protection of home and children. They should serve on all juries hearing trials involving sex problems, because of their feminine point of view."

Mrs. Randolph believes the law is an ideal profession for women, especially in view of the many attractive federal, county and city positions open to women with legal training.

OIL PROMOTERS IN WEST CURBED

SACRAMENTO, Cal. (UP)—A determined drive against the sale of questionable oil and gas property has been started in California by officials of the state division of real estate.

The beginning of the campaign was marked by the issuance of citations to show cause why stop orders should not be issued against more than 50 oil and gas projects in California, New Mexico and Texas.

The campaign was undertaken principally to give investors a "reasonable opportunity" to obtain a return on their money, according to J. Mortimer Clark, state real estate commissioner.

On this basis, recent orders were issued giving all subdividers of oil and gas projects an opportunity to establish, if they can, whether there is adequate title, reasonable possibility of obtaining gas and oil in commercial quantities, and reasonable prices in connection with the property offered for sale in California.

Another order requires that all subdividers of such projects file specific geological reports prepared by a geologist or petroleum engineer acceptable to the commissioner, indicating a "reasonable possibility of procuring oil and gas from the property proposed to be sold."

"This step was necessary to properly protect the public in these alleged investments," Clark said. "In New Mexico the leases were obtained from the state mostly at a price of 5 cents an acre. In many instances no regard was given as to whether the lands could reasonably be classed as oil and gas lands. The selling plans were purely promotional and the profits had been going into the pocket of the promoter and none to the investor. In most instances it was a complete loss to the investor."

CONVICT BACK ON CRIME CRUSADER ROLE

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (UP)—C. Edgar Eskridge, 45, is convict No. 82677 today—last year he was pastor of the First Baptist church at Orange, Tex.

The big, gun-toting minister who thundered from the pulpit last year that "crime does not pay" is serving a five-year sentence in the Texas state prison for the shotgun-slaying of Police Chief Ed O'Reilly of Orange.

Eskridge hopes to be assigned a job in the prison library because he had studied that work in college.

"Whatever they give me I'll be a model prisoner," he said. Eskridge said he wanted to forget his trial—but one phase of the testimony worried him. He did not want people to think he shot the officer in the back of the head.

"He was standing there talking to another man when I slowed my car," the crusading minister said. "He was looking right at me. His hands were at his side then and he froze. I had to get my shotgun out through a window. He reached for his gun and his head turned just a little before I shot. I saw him fall. It looked like his hand froze to his gun."

Runaway Thrills Westerners
SAN MATEO, Cal. (UP)—Residents of the city, especially of the present generation, were given the thrill of their life, when a team of horses from the William Srocker stables ran away on the historic El Camino Real. It took three hours to overtake the runaway team.

BERKELEY, Cal. (UP)—Convinced that he can find the wreckage of the monoplane of Paul Redfern, who disappeared in a non-stop flight from Brunswick, Ga., to Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 26, 1927, Lee R. Dennison, 51-year-old South American mining man, has announced that within the next 90 days he will start an expedition of two planes and a crew to attain this objective.

According to Dennison, the flight will be made into the jungle fastnesses of the Grand Savannah country, 350 miles inland from the Venezuelan coast.

The trip, he is convinced, will end forever the fantastic tales that have come out of the South American hinterland to the effect that the Indians, watching young Redfern plummet out of the sky, venerated him as a white deity, nursed his injuries and installed him as a captive medicine man king.

Convinced Flier Is Dead
Dennison's conviction that Redfern is dead but that the wreckage of his monoplane can still be found is based on a rumor brought him by an Indian courier of Venezuela that he knew the precise spot where the wreckage lies.

Redfern, flying his silver and gold monoplane, "Port of Brunswick," planned to pick up the South American coast at the Is-

PLANES TO HUNT REDFERN WRECK

land of Trinidad off Venezuela, head south to the mouth of the Amazon in Brazil and then fly 1,600 miles overland to Rio. Dennison believes Redfern may have mistaken the Orinoco delta in Venezuela for the Amazon, headed inland and crashed in the brush-choked ravines where his gasoline gave out.

"I have flown over this country a great deal in the past year," Dennison said. "And after 11 years in that territory am convinced no Indian tribe down there would have occasion to harbor him. Existence is too tough for everyone at all times."

Tells of First Clue
Dennison's first clue as to the possible whereabouts of the wreckage of Redfern's plane came following a perilous 36-day trip by canoe from his mining headquarters of Faviéche, near the headwaters of the Caroni River, on an exploratory voyage into the primeval Grand Savannah country.

Dennison explains that with two bearers he was at Carrao Falls, in the heart of the Great Savannah country, when he was bitten by a deadly viper. While he was recovering, as was one of his bearers, another Indian came to them with the story that he had seen the tattered wreckage of Redfern's plane hanging from a tree.

The Indian told Dennison that the exact spot was at a village eight or 10 days' journey to the west in the Yauliyaintepul Mountains near the Brazilian border. He promised to have a man who knew the exact spot at Carrao Falls on Dennison's return.

TERROR MARKS JAPAN'S SWAY OVER TIENTSIN

Ten Political Deaths In Year Tops Acts Of Violence

By EARL H. LEAF

United Press Staff Correspondent
TIENTSIN, Aug. 20—(UP)—
Ten assassinations of political figures in addition to several bombings, explosions and other acts of violence is the record established in Tientsin, base of Japanese military operations in North China, during the past hectic 12 months.
Almost every important hotel in the Japanese and French concessions can now point to bullet marks in the walls and dark spots on the floors where some politician met his doom at the hands of assassin.

Two Chinese newspaper editors on the Japanese payroll, one official of the mayor's office, one railway official, two ex-bandits under Japanese protection, one ex-warlord, two military police officials and the secretary to another notorious warlord fell in this manner.

Bombs Sent in Mails
Several attempts were made to assassinate Mayor Hsiao Chenying during his tenure of office, by sending him bombs through the mail and by chit-coolies, but the infernal machines were discovered before they exploded. The mayor never traveled outside his yamen without a strong bodyguard, nor,

for that matter, do other high officials.

A Japanese troop train narrowly averted being wrecked when a bomb exploded under the rails while it was nearing Tientsin on May 29. A bomb exploded near the official residence of the Japanese military commander in the Japanese concession. Two bombs were found in the lavatory of The Por-tum, gambling arena in the Italian concession, while Mayor Hsiao was having his fight over "donations to charity."

Japanese Attitude Changed
Since the bomb explosions near the Japanese commander's residence there has been a noticeable change in Japanese policy toward such incidents. Previously, on the slightest excuse, the official spokesmen and the Japanese press burst forth with torrent of abuse against the Nanking Government,
the North China officials, Blue Shirts, or whatever suited their fancy, before any investigation was made.

Now the Japanese authorities forbid the Nippon press from making any accusations until a complete investigation has been made and some definite proof of the perpetrators has been obtained. In the last three assassinations, the Japanese Consular Police within a few hours announced that the murders had no political significance.

It may be that the rebel forces now are fighting for a political idea of their own, but if they are seeking the restoration of former King Alfonso as a ruler of Spain, they are doomed to disappointment. — Major Ramon Franco, Spanish air attaché at Washington.

CITY ABSORBS RIVAL UTILITY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP)—
Long the center of a utilities fight, the city of Springfield's municipal electric plant will take over its private competitor on Sept. 1.

Under a program proposed by City Commissioner Willis J.
Spaulding, who has been the guiding director in the development of the city's municipal plant, the electric business of the Central Illinois Light Company will be assumed.

Sale of the private utility's electric properties together with its office building and its city steam heating plant for $7,200,000 has been agreed upon by the Springfield city council and A. D. Mackie, vice president of the utility.

Bond Issue Rushed
The city council, although Spaulding directed the negotiations single-handed with Mackie over a period of a year, approved the plan shortly after it had been explained at a special session Spaulding proposes to issue approximately $8,000,000 in city bonds, without a referendum, to provide funds for purchasing the competing utility. He expects revenues derived from operation of the municipal plants to retire the bonds in twenty years.

Protest against issuance of the bonds without a referendum has been made since particulars of the proposed transaction were made public. Leaders among the protestors argue that the proposal

should be submitted to a referendum.

Spaulding declares that, with the city having a monopoly on the electric business in Springfield and several suburban towns, it will be possible in the future to provide electric service at even lower rates than now prevail.

Power Rate Low
At present the city enjoys one of the lowest rates in the United States for electric service. Only the city of Pasadena, Cal., has a lower light rate, it is said.

Negotiations between Spaulding and Mackie and the principal figures in the fight for the city's electric business, followed completion of the city's huge municipal lake project.

The lake has a shoreline of 40 miles and is designed to enable Springfield to furnish water and electric power for many years.
The water supply is adequate for a city five times the size of Springfield, which has a population of 75,000.

The utility company will continue to sell natural gas in Springfield. Its properties in other sections of Illinois will not be affected by the proposed transaction.

BULL PROTECTS MASTER FROM POLICE INQUIRY

COLMA, Cal. (UP)—An improvised drama here would indicate that both gangsters and producers of gangster films have overlooked the possibility of using a bull as a bodyguard.

Godfrey Twerder, local rancher, was standing by the side of his pet bull when Paul Perussima, state highway patrol captain,
came cruising by looking for a murder suspect. He thought it would be worth while to give Twerder, whom he did not know personally, the "once over."

He started across the field.
Twerder saw him coming and thinking it might be a holdup man, started running.

Then Perussima started running. Then Twerder, looking back for a second time, decided after all it was not a holdup man and stopped running.

But Perussima kept on running.
Even when he reached Twerder he didn't stop. Perussima just had time to reach the fence before the bull reached him.

ELECTRICITY NEVER FAILS TO SAVE!

Gains Time and Money for the Busy Housewife

What is there that you can think of that has added more comfort and convenience to the modern home, and yet more inexpensive than electricity?

With electricity the housewife saves many hours of labor and many dollars for the family budget. With electricity she can iron, cook, wash, have refrigeration, correct lighting and numerous other luxuries.

But what does this cost?

The average American family pays $33.72 a year for electricity. This is $2.80 per month, 70c per week and and less than 10c per day. Over 70% of household consumers in this country average less than $2.<sup>00</sup> per month for electricity, or less than 7c per day.

Statistics show the increased cost of food over the last two years is $3.31 per week for the average family, which alone is five times the average cost of electricity. The nation spends practically the same amount each for bread and electricity. Few people realize that the tax paid on gasoline each year amounts to more than is spent for electrical current.

The tax on a package of cigarettes is 6c. If all members of the family consume a package and a half a day their total tax will be $32.82 a year which is approximately the average household bill for electricity.

Since electricity is so cheap why not take advantage of comforts and conveniences it can bring you through the many modern appliances offered you today.

Democrats From 7 States
To Attend Reunion
At Charlotte

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UP)—Southern Democratic supporters of the Roosevelt administration will give their 1936 election campaign a sendoff at a seven state rally here Sept. 10.

An afternoon address by President Roosevelt will be the local point of the entire meeting program.

This opportunity to participate in a gigantic political "family reunion" probably will bring 50,000 Democrats from tobacco and cotton fields; from the mountains and dozens of Southern cities and towns, Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia, Alabama and Tennessee will be represented.

Attendance May Reach 100,000

Hawood Robbins, young lawyer in charge of arrangements, is preparing this municipality of 90,000 persons for a possible influx of 100,000 visitors.

Object of the meeting is, essentially, to weld the "solid South" into an even stronger New Deal camp.

In the rear of Charlotte's little armory-auditorium, WPA workers are bolting down seats and adding final touches to a new concrete stadium. The meeting will serve as its inauguration.

An estimated 20,000 persons will crowd into the stadium proper. Temporary stands around the rim and on the central field will place another 20,000 to 30,000 in sight of the speakers' platform. Loud-speakers will carry the speeches to those unable to enter the stadium, and the program will be broadcast.

City to Be Bedecked

A display of bunting and flags unprecedented locally will line the President's route to the stadium. At least 25 bands will join in a street procession.

Tentative plans call for the festivities to start shortly after noon, and end by nightfall.

National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, and Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper are expected. Senators likely to attend are Hugo Black, Alabama; Walter George, Georgia; James Byrnes, South Carolina; Harry Bryd, Virginia; Josiah Bailey and Robert Reynolds, both of North Carolina. Other outstanding guests prob-"Dirigibles present a fascinating technical problem and I hate to see the problem dropped," Hearn said.

HONOLULU (UP)—Dropping experimentation with lighter-than-air craft in "mid-air" would be unfortunate, in the opinion of Admiral Arthur J. Hearn, commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet.

He emphasized the navy was more interested in dirigibles from the standpoint of research and ultimate commercial value than in their value as implements of war.

"You can have a war without dirigibles," he said. The admiral explained their use in wartime probably would be limited to patrol purposes, for observation, keeping shipping lanes clear and minimizing traffic in contraband, through border scouting.

Hearn said rigid aircraft also presented the factor of economical operation.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA
George Raft and Dolores Costello Barrymore are co-starred in "Yours for the Asking," comedy-romance of a gambler who decides to learn the ways of society, coming Friday to the Cliftona theatre. The picture boasts a supporting cast of such screen favorites as Ida Lupino, Reginald Owen, James Gleason, Lynne Overman, Richard "Skeets" Gallagher and Edgar Kennedy.

Gleason, Overman and Kennedy appear as the right-hand men of Raft in his gambling operation. The star meets Miss Barrymore, a society girl, decides to make his gambling place "an upper-crust layout," and gets her assistance. The trio of henchmen begin to fear that their boss is falling for Miss Barrymore. To prevent such an eventuality, they arrange to have Ida Lupino, beautiful adventuress, try to win him.

"Shakedown" is the other feature on this outstanding double bill.

Billy Burrud, eleven year old featured player with Buck Jones in Universal's "The Cowboy and the Kid" which opens at the Grand theatre on Friday, is an honorary member of the 6th Regiment of U. S. For Acquittal

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP)—Granted new trials by New York's highest tribunals, 27-year-old Mrs. Dorothy Sherwood, charged with the "mercy" drowning of her infant, and Manning Stewl, charged with participating in the O'Connell kidnapping, will fight for acquittal in mid-September.

Coincidentally, both trials will be in session simultaneously along the Hudson River within a distance of 55 miles.

At Newburgh, Mrs. Sherwood, a former showgirl and Salvation Army lassie from the West, will face a new Supreme Court jury. She was convicted at her first trial, and although the jury recommended mercy, was sentenced to death in the electric chair. She was to have been executed at Sing Sing prison last month.

The Court of Appeals came to her aid after it was shown the jury was not aware of mandatory death in returning a verdict of guilty despite a recommendation for mercy.

Stewl, who was convicted of participating in the abduction of John J. O'Connell, Jr., a nephew of the powerful Albany political leaders, in 1933, will be given a new trial on Catskill. At his first trial in Albany, he was sentenced to 50 years in prison. He failed to convince a Supreme Court jury that he acted only in the capacity of intermediary during ransom negotiations.

O'Connell was held in New York City for $40,000 ransom.

After serving two years of the sentence at Dannemora prison, Stewl was granted a new trial by the Appellate Division. The Court of Appeals affirmed the ruling.

Stewl's attorney also obtained a change of venue. The attorney is George Smith of Schenectady, who has superseded Attorney Daniel Prior of Albany in the case.

The abduction still is unsolved. Federal and local authorities are searching for three Albany fugitives for questioning.

Meantime Stewl is held in Greene County Jail.

Mrs. Sherwood is in the Orange County jail at Goshen.

At her first trial she confessed drowning her 2-year-old son, Jimmy, because she was destitute and "couldn't see him go hungry." She surrendered, carrying the body of her child into a police station.

For five months Mrs. Sherwood remained at Sing Sing prison before being returned to Goshen jail. She was the last person to embrace Mrs. Frances Creighton who was executed for the murder of a Long Island woman.

She abandoned the stage to wed a laborer, who died, leaving her destitute.

Mrs. Sherwood has hopes of acquittal, according to her attorney, Stanley R. Johnson.

PEACEFUL SIOUX IN DAKOTA AREA TRACED TO 1870

BROOKINGS, S. D. (UP)—The Sioux Indians of Flandreau, S. D. were among the first in the country to give up warfare, hunting and fishing and take up farming as a means of livelihood, according to a survey by Prof. William Powers, South Dakota state librarian.

One of the leaders of the transi-

They Can Handle the Blades

GAY YOUNG blades couldn't cut up very much with these three girls, for they can handle the blades. That's one way of telling you that they are the three best women fencers in the world, having finished one-two-three in the fells even at the Olympic games in Berlin. Left to right, they are Helene Mayor of Germany, who finished second; Ellen Preiss of Austria, third, and Hona Elek-Schacherer of Hungary, first.

tion of the Flandreau Sioux from a tribe of warlike hunters to peaceful farmers was the Rev. John P. Williamson, Prof. Powers said.

The Flandreau Sioux moved to the Dakotas when they became dissatisfied with life on the Nebraska reservation.

They were eager to be on their own, rather than existing on the scanty governmental provisions of that day, Powers said.

They begin arriving in the Flandreau area in 1870 and within three years 500 families had settled.

Williamson, a missionary, took steps to obtain government aid in the form of implements and livestock. He lived among them for 36 years and was instrumental in establishing the school which developed into the Flandreau Indian vocational high school, one of the finest of its type in the country.

HAWAII WARNED OF LAVA FLOW

HONOLULU (UP)—Sunset colors and planetary positions, as well as moon, hold the keys to weather ther Othmar of St. Louis College, Honolulu.

Brother Othmar, who seems headed for a reputation as great as that of Father Ricard, late famed "padre of the rains" at Santa Clara College, Cal., already has listed a probable series of events for Hawaii this year. He predicts a major eruption of the volcano Mauna Loa on the island in February, 1937.

He also has predicted a flood in the Nuuanu Valley above Honolulu in September, and continuation of rainy weather in Honolulu proper all summer.

"There is going to be a lot of fun when this happens, and Hawaii can expect another major eruption," he says.

A fiery, blotchy-red sunset in Hawaii may be followed shortly by typhoons in the distant Philippines, according to Brother Othmar. He said that "red" sunsets seen for five months in Hawaii in 1853 likewise followed a terrific earthquake in Japan.

"The stars can talk if you can only listen long enough," he cryptically contends.

Jupiter controls earthquake movements, he insists. Once, he says, he noticed the Pleiades were shining with unusual brilliance.

Within a short time a severe storm struck, and after the storm had passed the constellation could be seen but dimly, indicating the storm originated in its direction.
